W. Keyes, Congressman Sherman B. Burroughs, President of the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association, A. B. Jones, president of the New Hampshire Board of Trade, Chairman P. J. Deering, of the Maine Highway Commission, and the personal representative of Governor Milliken, all with one purpose in view, that of freeing the travel between this city and Maine from toll and the building of a free bridge across the Piscataqua river from this city to Kittery.

It was organized into a boosting committee for this purpose and there never has been more enthusiasm and more optimistic views about the long cherished idea of a proper bridge across the river, than were expressed by the speaker.

Interesting observers of the meeting, although not speaking, were Indus-

PAPER BOUGHT BY BREWERS' FUND

Allege Alabama Paper Purchased by Same Source as Washington Times.

Washington, Nov. 21.—At the opening hearing before the senate committee investigating the purchase of the Washington Times with money furnished by the brewers, evidence was offered to prove that funds from the same source were provided for purchase of the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

C. W. Ferguson of Newark, N. J., who handled the money furnished Mr. Husbands, was one of the first witnesses. He identified as brewers, the underwriters of a loan said to have been arranged for acquisition of the Advertiser. Documents were put into the record to show that collateral security was used at a Philadelphia bank to the extent of $100,000 and that the purchase of the Advertiser was negotiated by Charles H. Allen and William T. Sheehan.

The purchase of the Montgomery Advertiser was said to have been negotiated in August, 1915, the party of brewers having signed two notes of $50,000 each, one representing the loan to Sheehan and the other to Allen. Signers of the note to Sheehan included Edward Langbehn of Chicago, $50,000; Gustavus Pabst of Milwaukee, $50,000; Henry Wahlkamp of St. Louis, $25,000; August A. Busch of St. Louis, $14,750; Eugene M. Keely of Chicago, $14,750; John Moerlin of Cincinnati, $14,750; the F. W. Cook Brewing company, $4,750, and Peter S. Theurer of Chicago, $4,750.

The note to Allen was signed by the following: Edward A. Schmidt of Philadelphia, $17,500; Louis B. Schran of Brooklyn, N. Y., $17,500; J. Lehman of Brooklyn, $4,750; H. J. Schaefer and Jacob Ruppert of New York, $17,500 each; and George Ehret of New York, $5,000; C. W. Felgenhausen of Newark, N. J., $4,750, and N. J. and M. L. Griel, address not given, $4,750 each.

EVERYBODY FAVORED NEW BRIDGE

trial Manager Adams of the Navy Yard, and other yard officials, keenly alive to the fact that a bridge would solve their workmen's transportation tangle that exists at present.

The meeting was held in the Colonial dining room which was not large enough and they overflowed into the foyer and the reading room. While the meeting was called for and did consider principally the new bridge project, it also at times branched out into other matters of interest in this section of the country in view of the great increase of business that is promised this section. The harbor improvement and the making of Portsmouth a port worth while was also enthusiastically received.

Col. Bartlett called the meeting to order and he briefly outlined the purpose of it and of the great need of getting an organization from this section of the country, to boost for the new bridge. He explained how the last legislature in his bill appointed along with Maine a commission to consider this new bridge and how they were now ready to report. Their report would be favorable in both Maine and New Hampshire for the bridge and it would require the united action of the business and other interests here to impress the legislature of its value and get the necessary appropriation.

With this in view he had called the meeting and after consultation had picked the following executive committee and general committee, with President Fred M. Sise of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce as chairman. The committees:

Executive Committee—Frederick M. Sise, Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce; Fred C. Smalley, mayor of Dover; Thomas F. Flannigan, president of the Navy Yard Improvement Association; Calvin Page, member of the joint bridge commission, Portsmouth; Horace Mitchell of the Maine legislature, Kittery, Me.; J. H. Shattuck, member of the joint bridge commission, Portsmouth; Samuel T. Ladd, mayor of Portsmouth; Aaron B. Cole, author of the Maine bridge law, Elliot; Capt. L. S. Adams of the U. S. Navy, Portsmouth; John K. Bates, member of the Portsmouth Harbor Improvement Committee; Albert E. McKeel, representing the town of Exeter; H. C. Raynes of the Atlantic Corporation, Portsmouth; Albert H. Bishop of the Portsmouth Board of Trade; Arthur G. Whittemore, member-elect of the Governor's Council, Dover; Oliver B. Marvin, member of the N. H. Senate, New Castle; R. A. Cooney, president N. H. Federation of Labor.

General committee of 100—The 15 members of the Executive committee; Alfred P. Howard, Portsmouth; Commander P. H. Brownell, U. S. N.; G. Ralph Lightfoot, Portsmouth; Joseph P. Simpson, York; Daniel F. Dorthwick, Portsmouth; Dwight Hall, George J. Foster, E. S. Shortridge, Edward A. Teague, Dover; Daniel W. Hedges, William J. Kennedy, Portsmouth; Harold G. Brown, William A. Goss, Dover; W. L. Haywood, New Castle; Jackson M. Hoyt, Newington; Howard G. Lane, Hampton; Elmer D. Moulton, Greenland; Russell Sawyer, Rye; George A. Batchelder, North Hampton; Frank H. Person, Stratham; Walter B. Farmer, Hampton Falls; George D. Boulter, Patrick Rooster, Kittery; Thomas F. Staples, Alfred Spinner, Elliot; B. Curtis Matthews, Portsmouth; Charles P. Shillaber; Harry B. Boynton, William A. Cogan, Portsmouth; Everett Calloway, Dover; William C. Walton, Portsmouth; Alvin T. Randall, Fred A. Brown, Walter W. Scott, Thomas H. Dearborn, H. K. Reynolds, John Hatch, Dover; William J. Catter, R. W. Hartford; Charles A. Badger, Oliver L. Frisbie, Charles W. Gray, Joseph L. Jacoby, Gustave Peters, True L. Norris, William A. Hodgson, Patrick Kane, Harold Smith, Harry B. Dowdell, Lewis Soule, Edward P. Sherburne, William Casey, Andrew Jarvis, John Pender, A. C. Heffenger, J. Whelown Pierce, Max Goodman, Joseph Sacco, Frank Lefo, William McEvoy, Rev. Fr. D. Alex Sullivan, Rev. Alfred Gooding, Frank A. Holden, Raphael Costello, R. Clyde Murgeson, Fred E. Hasty, Seth M. James, Arthur P. Howard, Ralph C. Gray, Ernest L. Gupill, George H. Wallace, Ernest L. Chancy, Joseph P. Connor, Henry B. Tilton, H. Clifton Taylor, Portsmouth; Chester D. Hatch, Exeter; Elroy G. Shaw, Hampton; Blako Rand, Rye; Charles G. Waldron, Dover; James Marshall, John S. Wesley, Dover; E. Percy Stoddard, Portsmouth; Albertus D. Dudley, Exeter; Fred S. Feltows, Exeter; Daniel Cronin, Felix E. O'Neill, Jr., George M. Randall, Eugene B. Post, Charles A. Fairbanks, Samuel B. Shackford, Charles S. Middy, James G. Houston, Dover; Warren Brown, Hampton Falls; John L. Foss, Dover; George G. Lattee, Sherman T. Newton, Robert Hayes, Howard O. Nelson, Frank J. Philbrick, Lewis Ewold, Arthur E. Sewall, George H. Sanderson, Portsmouth; George S. Hughes, Dover.

He explained that the commission hoped to get the government interested in the project owing to its service to the navy yard and read telegrams from J. S. Senator Moses, Congressman Wason of this state, Senators Fernald and Hale of Maine, Congressman Goodall and Peters of Maine, all favoring the project and agreeing to do whatever they could to push the matter along, and expressing disappointment that they were unable to be present.

Col. Bartlett called upon Mr. Phillip J. Deering, chairman of the Maine Commission, who outlined the work of the commission and what they had reached an agreement on. He said that the Boston & Maine railroad wanted $175,000 for the old bridge and this was out of the question and the commission had finally agreed upon a bridge similar to that at Portland, to run from Churchill Point to Badgers Island, bringing the highway out at the entrance of the navy yard. The question of a suspension bridge owing to its cost was out of the question, but the commission thought that a high bridge with one large draw high enough for most river craft to pass under would be sufficient. This would be of steel and reinforced concrete and he intimated that the cost would be in the vicinity of a million dollars. It would be sixty feet wide, contain a double track electric road, highway and sidewalks. He said that the entire state of Maine was back of this project. It meant more to Maine than this state for it was the main highway into the state for its thousands of summer people and sportsmen. He said that it could have been put through years ago in Maine, but New Hampshire had failed to respond. He said that the Maine Highway Commission had made it their one big item for the legislature to consider in its appropriation and was confident that Maine would do its full share.

Governor Keyes, now senator-elect, was the next speaker. He is a member of the New Hampshire Commission and said that he was vitally interested in the project. He explained that he had experienced with feeling a toll bridge in his own town across the Connecticut river, and that the last legislature had made a precedent in helping on the bridge up there. He further promised to do what he could in the United States Senate to help it along. He said that if everybody gets together then there was nothing to it.

Congressman Sherman E. Burroughs explained in his short speech that he was heartily in favor of this project. It was needed for not only the interests of this state and Maine, but the government, in regards to the navy yard. He promised to do everything he could to get it through.

President Lyons of the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association, said that he was impressed with this meeting. It was the kind of meeting that should be held often and the kind that did things. He pledged the united support of the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association in the project which he considered was for the business interest of the entire state.

Mr. Aaron B. Cole of Elliot, the father of the bill in the Maine legislature, delivered a rattling good speech, in which he hit from the shoulder on the lack of this city getting together with the towns across the river and getting something. He said that three times it had been brought up in the Maine legislature and three times died for want of support from New Hampshire. He urged that they get together and hustle now that it was in sight.

Mayor Fred B. Smalley of Dover was greatly in favor of the new bridge and at the same time wanted to see the freeing of bridges extended to the Dover Point bridge.

Col. John Pender delivered one of his characteristic talks, in which he pointed out that in addition to the new bridge, the committee could well consider the question of water for Dover and this city and he called attention to some of his dreams of years ago, most of which had come about.

J. A. Cooney, president of the N. H. Federation of Labor, spoke, and Ex-Mayor Daniel W. Badger said that he hoped that Bartlett would follow the precedent of Governor Keyes and get a free bridge.

Councilor-elect A. G. Whittemore of Dover, spoke in favor and Senator-elect Oliver B. Marvin said that he had experience enough to want to see all bridges free and promised to do his level best in this direction.

Mr. A. B. Jenks of the New Hampshire Board of Trade, said he was interested and he pledged the support of his organization to carry it through.

Judge Page, a member of the bridge commission, paid a glowing tribute to Senator Gallinger, who was chairman of the joint commission and greatly interested. He said that the joint commission had an appointment to see Secretary of the Navy Daniels in regards to the government's interest in the matter and he was very optimistic in regards to seeing the bridge built.

F. A. French, secretary of the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association, read a letter from Chairman Hurley about the development of the merchant marine and the ports of this country which he thought pertinent to this occasion.

Col. Bartlett, before turning the meeting over to Chairman Sise, pledged himself to do everything to get this project through the New Hampshire legislature and hoped that this committee would also interest themselves in other projects of interest to this section.

Chairman F. M. Sise, in taking the chair, said that the Chamber of Commerce had been working on this free bridge for six years, but with little success, but he thought now that the time was ripe and that the new bridge across the Piscataqua a sure thing.

BOYLE GETS DECISION OVER BILLY WOODS

The Knickerbocker A. C. staged a boxing bout on Thursday evening to a good sized crowd and it was no fault whatever of the manager that it did not please the crowd. All of the boys advertised were present, but they were not as aggressive as they would have liked.

Billy Woods, who has always been a good rugged fighter, willing to mix it with anybody, was "off his feed" last night and quit to Finney Boyle of Lowell in the fifth round of what was to have been a twelve round feature bout. Woods was not in the best physical condition; he had a bad cold and this may account for his lack of action.

At times he had flashes, but they were but flashes and Boyle was having all his own way when in the fifth Woods' second threw the sponge into the ring and Boyle was awarded the decision by Referee Billy Hamilton.

Charlie Parker of Roxbury got the decision over Johnny Gray of Chelsea in an eight round bout in which Parker had everything his own way the greater part of the time, although Gray stayed to the finish.

In the preliminary Charlie Tromblay had such a lead over Young Ginevay that his second threw up the sponge in the second round.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common Garden Sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Allowing the Sage Tea and Sulphur to remain at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youth full appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so gently. You just dampen a sponge, or so brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

EXETER

Exeter, Nov. 22.—For the first time in many years the annual ball of the Alook and Laddie company will not be held on New Year's eve, this decision having been reached at the annual meeting of the company held this week. In years past this has been one of the leading social events of the winter and last year the proceeds were given to the Red Cross. War conditions were the cause of the cancellation.

George F. Lord has been assigned to the position of mail carrier from the postoffice in the Boston and Maine station. Mr. Lord succeeds the late John Elliott, who was a victim of influenza last month.

News of the death of Earl Lawrence an Exeter boy, at Gettysburg, Pa., who enlisted in the service since the beginning of the late war, was received here today. Details are lacking but the body will be shipped here soon.

DO NOT APPROVE PRESIDENT'S ACTION

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 21.—President Wilson's action in taking over the cables and the express companies, came in for some severe criticism in the Senate today. Republican senators claimed that it was part of a scheme to force government ownership upon the people. Senators Watson of Indiana, Kellogg of Minnesota, and Sherman of Illinois, in the course of the debate, took occasion to severely criticize the President for his intention to go to Europe. George Creel, the government press agent, was also severely handled and the senators claimed that the taking over of the cables was with the idea of having a government censorship over the press of the country during the conference so that the Allied nations could not know what Congress was saying about the treaty of peace.

GERMANS TURNED OVER 71 SHIPS TO ALLIES

(By Associated Press)
Hull, Scotland, Nov. 21.—The German high sea fleet, which surrendered this afternoon to the Allied fleet, was brought to the Fifth of Forth, Scotland. The British fleet which received the surrender of the German fleet was accompanied by five American battleships and three French war ships and they acted as an escort for the 71 German ships.

Describing the surrender of the German fleet to Admiral David Beatty, a correspondent stated that after all of the German fleet had gone through the form, that the Admiral on the battleship "Queen Elizabeth" passed on through the fleet and received the greatest ovation from the crews of all of the ships.

The British grand fleet left the harbor this morning in two lines six miles apart, so formed that the German fleet could pass between them. The leading ships of the German fleet were sighted at a little after 9 o'clock, and they all flew the German navy flag until they had surrendered, when they were hauled down.

Harwich, Eng., Nov. 21.—Another flotilla of German U-boats surrendered today. There were nineteen submarines in the fleet which reported to a British squadron, the twentieth having broken down and had to turn back.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste, or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water, before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Effervescent lithia-water drink.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

"Danderine" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and glossy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knop's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—your supply can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

SEEK RELEASE FROM NAVY

Since the signing of the armistice Rear Admiral Spencer S. Wood, commander of the First Naval District, has been besieged with requests from men in the service for their release, and such requests have also come from parents. To satisfy such persons it is his intention to issue a general order in which he will state that he has received no word to release anyone from the service, but just as soon as he does he will communicate it to those interested. There is still a great deal of work for the Navy to do and the signing of the armistice does not mean that the armed force should be disbanded. On the other hand, says the admiral, they must be kept intact so as to enforce the terms of the armistice.

Portsmouth, N. H., Friday, November 22, 1918.

It Has Been Done.

In a public address in a neighboring state last summer Lieutenant Commander Thomas Mott Osborne of the naval prison said: "Germany must be whipped until every man, woman and child in Germany knows that she is whipped."

And that is just what has been done. It has been done sooner than the most optimistic had dared to expect, and it has been done with a thoroughness that leaves no room for question. The job is complete, although the details have not been completed. These will be attended to in due time and due order, and with the same thoroughness that characterized operations in the field.

When Germany threw up her hands she was compelled to throw them up empty. The greater part of her vast war equipment passed to the hands of the enemy, and she was obliged to accept the terms laid down without a quibble. She was whipped until every man, woman and child in the empire knew it.

Since that time her armies have been hastening out of invaded territory and moving toward home, where the Allies will soon have armies of occupation to preserve order and see that all conditions are complied with until the details of settlement are completed.

The most spectacular part of the surrender was the turning over of the German fleet to the Allied navies. Notwithstanding the fact that it was practically unused during the war, Germany had a large and powerful fleet, but she has it no more. It has passed into the hands of the nations she sought to override, and its creator is left powerless on land and sea. It is a mighty tragedy, but Germany's insane and merciless course invited it, and the good and safety of the world made it inevitable.

And now that the shock of war is ended, it is highly gratifying and reassuring to see the victors taking ground which substantiates the claims put forth by them amidst the din of battle—that they were fighting for humanity and civilization. Already, as has before been mentioned in this paper, arrangements are being made to feed the suffering German people so minded and broad-minded to entertain the spirit of revenge. Justice they will insist upon, as they should, but they will never descend to the German level of needlessly compelling the innocent to suffer with the guilty.

In the years to come this magnanimous course will shine with ever-increasing lustre. The world will know that the Allied nations were honest in their professions and contentions and that the war was, on their part, waged for the highest ideals and not for the base purposes of conquest and plunder.

A great deal has been done for the soldiers at home and abroad, and now that the strain has been materially relieved, they ought not to forget this. It is said that the morale in the home camps is weakening, and it is decidedly unpleasant to read of crimes being committed by soldiers and sailors and of battles with the police in different cities.

In Food Administrator Hoover and Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board the right men have been sent abroad to see about feeding the starving populations and getting the soldier boys home. With those men behind it the business in hand will move.

Thus early it is announced that President Wilson will probably remain in France somewhat longer than he first intended to. It is quite safe to say that, once there, he can be depended upon to stay until his work is finished. He is that kind of a man.

Statistics show that retail food prices have increased about 75 per cent in the last five years. It ought to be safe to assume that they have about reached the maximum and that the changes from this time on will be in the other direction.

The Adirondack hunting season has closed. A large number of deer were shot; also five men were killed and a score or more injured. There is altogether too much carelessness on the part of many who go into the woods with guns.

The effects of the war are far reaching. Hereafter the teaching of elementary subjects in the parochial schools of this state is to be conducted in the English language only.

The weather has been so mild of late that it is difficult to realize that the shortest days of the year are less than a month distant.

No more enlistments for the present. The government has all the soldiers it needs, and more.

Twelve men of the coast guard service, who enlisted during the past year as ordinary seamen and have been on duty at the New York division in connection with loading munitions and also at the coast guard academy at New London, Conn., arrived in this city Thursday afternoon.

OUR BOYS SERVING UNDER STARS AND STRIPES

PEN SKETCHES AND PICTURES.

Lieut. John Brandon Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wright of this city. He was born in Portsmouth and was educated in the Portsmouth schools and graduated from Tilton Seminary. He enlisted in the Aviation Section of the Army in December 1917, and received instruction at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at Cornell University, after which he was transferred to Kelly Field at San Antonio, Texas, and to Camp Dick, Dayton, Ohio. He was commissioned Second Lieutenant June 26, 1918.

He was ordered to France for extended field service early in September 1918, and is now undergoing advanced training at a training camp near Tours, France. He writes enthusiastically of the country there, and finds the French people very cordial toward the "Americans" as they call them.

The following is an extract from a letter written to his mother: Dear Mother:

I have been going to write you for a week but somehow I could not seem to find the time until now. It has been such good weather most of the time and I have been doing a lot of walking around the country here. I am feeling fine with the exception of a slight cold I caught on the train for I am at a new station now somewhere near Bordeaux, so get out your map and imagine me anywhere within a considerable distance of that city. Some definite information is it not?

I am still with Harrie and have been since we first met at Brest and we are sleeping in adjoining bunks at this camp. Did I tell you about meeting Harrie? He went to Tilton with me, and it sure does seem good to have an old friend like him with me here. At present I am waiting for my orders to go to a training camp and then the real work will begin.

You can see we have changed stations since my last letter, and the country is much prettier here. I am seeing a good lot of France and am learning to talk French very well, thanks to my two years at old Tilton. Harrie also has studied French a lot and we can pass for Frenchmen almost anywhere.

This country seems far behind ours in some things, except in the build-and dig into bed, as we seem to need a lot of sleep here.

Your loving son,
BRANDON.

Austin Howard Trueman was born at Portsmouth Dec. 30, 1894, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton M. Trueman of 788 Middle Road, this city. He was graduated from the Portsmouth high school in 1913. Shortly after graduation he accepted a position at the office of the Frank Jones Brewing Company, which position he later resigned and entered the office of the Portsmouth Brewing Company, as shipping clerk, and held that position until the close of the brewery May 1, 1918. He enlisted in the U. S. Army June 7, 1918, and was sent to Fort Slocum, N. Y., and was transferred to Camp Jackson, So. Carolina, about June 15, 1918; was promoted to Corporal July 30, 1918, and on August 4, 1918, was transferred to Camp Meade, Md. He was promoted to Sergeant, Aug. 25, 1918, and assigned to Headquarters Co., 31st Field Artillery, where he now is training for overseas duty. Sergeant Trueman is a member of New Hampshire Lodge 17, I. O. O. F., and the Portsmouth Athletic Club.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT CHARITY BALL

A special feature of the Charity Ball to be given this evening at Freeman's Hall will be the playing of the Hawaiian orchestra, composed of enlistment of the Navy from the U. S. S. (name deleted by censor.) This in itself, will prove a decided attraction, as anyone who has heard the enticing strains of the ukulele played by only Hawaiians can play it will testify.

Another feature which should prove a decided local attraction is the drill to be given by yeomen, the majority of whom are Portsmouth girls. This drill will be given under the direction of Marine Gunner J. T. Flannigan, U. S. M. C., who has devoted much time and enthusiasm to this unique feature. An exhibition drill by a detachment of marines under the direction of Marine Gunner Walter O. Jackson, U. S. M. C., will follow, and also a bayonet drill—something entirely new for Portsmouth—will be given by 1st Sergeant Leo Kilpatrick and Sergeant Philip S. Knox, U. S. M. C.

The music for the concert will be furnished by the Navy Yard marine band, under the direction of 1st Sergeant Walter J. Portune, U. S. M. C.; these services having been kindly volunteered for the occasion. The dance music will be rendered by Mrs. Clara Wentworth Marden and her popular orchestra.

for supplies for the work rooms $2,844. and as all supplies were bought at cost price, including the wool, etc., it gives some idea of the amount of work turned out.

The following is the report of Mrs. Mabel S. Locke, the chairman of the Work room committee, which shows the great amount of work turned out by the ladies of the work room in the past year.

"This report is for the year beginning Nov. 13, 1917, when we shipped our first box to Boston and to Nov. 12, 1918, when we shipped our last box to Boston.

In the year we have shipped 108 boxes in all, containing the following: 1005 sweaters, 3508 pairs of socks, 217 helmets, 483 pairs of wristers, 92 mittens and 11 afghans from the knitting department; 814 pairs pajamas, 793 surgical shirts, 170 convalescent robes, 33 bed jackets, 600 refugee garments, 224 pillow cases, 250 towels, 281 flannel socks, 500 navy kits, 82 property bags from the sewing department; 1600 ironing packets, 1000 pads, 1125 packages of gauze dressings and 2100 bandages of various kinds from the surgical dressing department.

Nothing has been given out to draftees or individuals since May 1st, according to orders received from Headquarters.

At the time of the epidemic, the Portsmouth Chapter furnished the following articles to the Emergency Hospital, the district nurse and the Red Cross nurses: 50 cotton bed shirts, 30 heavy bed shirts, 63 pairs of pajamas, 12 aprons, 10 head dresses for nurses, 60 paper backed pads, 108 small pads, 3 laundry bags, 10 wash cloths, 2 rolls absorbent cotton, 2100 gauze masks, 151 pneumonia jackets, 3 pairs bed socks, 9 hot water bag covers.

We have worked two days a week on surgical dressings and one day a week on sewing, almost continuously from we closed on account of the epidemic November, 1917 to September 26, when we had a great deal of the year we had the rooms open two evenings also.

Respectfully submitted,

MAHIEL S. LOCKE,

Chairman Workroom Committee.

The report of the Home Service Committee of which Mr. Fred M. Sise is chairman, and Mrs. C. A. Hull assistant chairman, shows that during the year 205 families were given assistance, some cases money was loaned until allowances were received, in all cases assistance was rendered in securing the allowances, and in addition all of the drafted men were given help and advice about their allowance and insurance. The Christmas box for the boys overseas also came under this committee as well as many other activities in connection with the soldiers and sailors. The work of this committee has been of the utmost importance.

The report of Mrs. L. H. Thayer, who was chairman of the Red Cross diet kitchen during the epidemic and under whose able management it was such a great success, is given in another column. This report of the treasurer of the diet kitchen fund, Mr. W. J. Cuter, shows that $2174.01 was received in contributions and that $1251.81 was paid out for materials used in the kitchen, with some small outstanding accounts.

It was voted that the balance of this fund be made a separate emergency fund and not become a part of the regular funds, which may be called upon for such emergency as may arise.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks for the use of their second floor for the Red Cross work room.

A vote of thanks was also tendered Mrs. L. H. Thayer and the women and others who assisted her in the Red Cross diet kitchen.

The same executive committee was re-elected and at subsequent meeting it organized with Mr. H. C. Taylor chairman, Mrs. Wallis D. Walker secretary and Mr. George B. Lord treasurer. The other members of the committee are Mrs. Mabel S. Locke, Messrs. Fred M. Sise, Joseph P. Connor, E. Curtis Matthews, and R. D. McDonough.

REPORT OF THE RED CROSS DIET KITCHEN.

When the alarming character of the recent epidemic became manifest, the local Red Cross, without waiting for instructions from Washington, at once undertook to meet the most obvious need, the supply of suitable food for individuals and families stricken with influenza.

The plan was first suggested on the morning of Friday, October 1th, and eleven families were supplied on the afternoon of that day. On the following day the number rose to thirty-six, and a rapid increase brought the number of families served per day to eighty-four within the first week. The number stayed in that region for some time and gradually fell to a point where it seemed possible to close the kitchen, which had been in operation for five weeks and two days. The total number of families served during that time was two hundred and seventy-five. In addition large quantities of food were sent daily on order for patients in the two emergency hospitals and in the hospital at Atlantic Heights. It is estimated that in all the Diet Kitchen fed between eleven and twelve hundred people, some of them for a period of weeks. The largest number of individuals served in one day was about four hundred and fifty. Thirty-six cases were in Kittery and Elliot, seven in New Castle, Newington, Rye, Hampton and Seabrook, the remainder being in the city of Portsmouth.

When the kitchen was opened the local physicians and the Public Health Department were notified and were asked to report cases which they wished to have cared for. This was done every day by many of the physicians. Instructions were generally given as to the kind of food required and members of the family of the patient, often brought in written prescriptions for food. Every case thus reported was followed up until assurance was given that help was no longer needed. Application was often made in person by friends of those stricken, and telephone messages were frequently received from neighbors and friends giving information as to places where food was needed. Frequent investigation was made in all cases in order that the work might be intelligently done and that the food sent might be sufficient and of a suitable character. In this part of the work Mrs. Hull of the Red Cross Home Service was invaluable. She often discovered other needs besides food and was able to advise and help.

A careful record was kept of each case, the number of people ill, the kind of food prescribed and the amount sent each day. Liquid food was sent for those very ill; convalescent food suitable to various stages for those recovering from the disease and ordinary food for those burdened with the care of the sick and for children unable to care for themselves.

Many cases were reported by the Public Health Department and by the district nurses, and the Public Health nurses came every day for supplies. On the other hand the kitchen reported to the Public Health Department cases where nursing or medical care was needed, and prompt assistance was always given. The co-operation on the part of the Public Health Department was greatly appreciated, and was invaluable to the work of the Diet Kitchen.

The North Church Parish House was given for the undertaking, and there for twelve hours a day on seven days in the week the preparation and distribution of food went on. The equipment with one large gas stove at once proved inadequate, and the Electric Light and Power Company installed an electric stove for which they generously supplied the electricity. In response to a call for fireless cookers a large number were loaned. These were of special value in preparing food for morning distribution. An outfit of kettles was bought for the Red Cross, and when this proved inadequate, the call which went out for such equipment met an immediate and generous response.

In addition to the provisions bought, large donations were received of fresh eggs, groceries of many kinds, milk, home cooked food in great quantity and of great variety. Liberal donations of provisions were sent from Kittery, and both the Kittery and Elliot Red Cross Chapters made generous contributions of money. They also sent a daily contingent of help, as it was thought wise to turn both money and service into the Portsmouth kitchen, rather than to organize on a large scale in Kittery.

Owing to the fact that all service was voluntary service and therefore lacked continuity and that the work was emergency work and was necessarily done at top speed during the first two weeks, no complete list was kept of donors and donations, aside from gifts in cash, and no acknowledgment is therefore possible aside from this general one. Probably the greatest asset to the work was the fact that Miss Dorothy Emerson was secured to take charge of the kitchen. Her services were generously given by the Urban Director of the Home Extension Bureau of New Hampshire College. Miss Emerson took up the work with splendid enthusiasm. Under her a large band of volunteer helpers was organized, often twenty-five working at one time. The women of the city were most generous in their service, many of them giving practically their entire time for weeks. Others came in for such time as they could spare from their work. The young women and girls from some of the department stores and Camp Fire girls came in at night to wash dishes and clean. There was absolutely no paid service in the kitchen. All day long one or two people were washing dishes; all day long one or two people were squeezing oranges, for orange

NO QUININE IN THIS COLD CURE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends colds and grippe in a few hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness. "Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and sniffing. Breathe your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as 'Pape's Cold Compound,' which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitutes.

Juice was more in demand than any one article. All day long cooking of many kinds was being done on the two stoves, in their ovens, and in the fireless cookers. At the end of three weeks Miss Emerson was called to other work, and Miss Alice Griffin took charge of the kitchen for a week giving able service. One room was reserved for cold storage, and here the windows were kept open night and day. The weather, however, was not sufficiently cold to render this arrangement entirely satisfactory, and the Rockingham Hotel allowed the kitchen the use of its cold storage. This generous arrangement was vital to the success of the work. At night and in the morning boys from the High School and others gave their services in carrying food back and forth. Frequent reference was made by those receiving food to the quality of the cooking. The ready explanation was that the best housewives and cooks of the city were engaged in the work. The following articles of food were distributed from the kitchen, a large part of them being prepared on the spot:

Breads of three kinds, graham of four kinds, soup of six kinds, orange juice, grape juice, grape lemonade, malted milk, cocoa, egg nog, junkies and custards in large variety, baked apples and pears, fruit and wine jellies, home canned goods; jellied chicken, beef and eggs, fish chowder and mutton stew, roast chicken, creamed foods including chicken, potatoes, celery, eggs and carrots; meat loaf, baked potatoes, sandwiches, bread, cake, browned crackers, cottage cheese, fresh eggs, milk and fruit.

In addition to this general menu, some special meals were provided as ordered by physicians and nurses. After the first day practically all food was boxed in quart and pint cartons and labelled. This task kept several people busy. Local dealers contributed cartons or sold them at cost. More than ten thousand such were used. Distribution of the food was made possible by generous offers of motor service. Many different cars were in use at different times, and several drivers made the distribution of food a regular part of their daily program.

Many words of appreciation have been spoken by those to whom the service of the kitchen was most helpful in a time of sore need. We pass on these words of thanks to those for whom they were meant: To the generous givers of money and supplies, including various organizations, hotels and merchants, citizens of all classes, and even children; to those women who at home or in the kitchen gladly gave their services, often at great personal inconvenience; to the motor drivers who served on all days of the week and in all weathers; to the newspapers whose co-operation was always willing and very helpful; to all who in any way served this enterprise.

The actual need was undoubtedly not entirely met, for the reason that some people felt that the service had in it a hint of charity which they were naturally unwilling to accept.

In some cases undoubtedly further service from the kitchen was declined while the convalescent was still unable to prepare proper food and were in great need of it. This feeling was of course due to a misunderstanding. The Red Cross could not go into the food business, but furnished a channel through which the community at a time of emergency could serve itself in a spirit of neighborliness and yet quite impersonally. The Diet Kitchen was really one way in which Portsmouth was fighting for its life.

We all hope that such service will never again be needed in Portsmouth. If however, the occasion should arise, the Red Cross equipment is ready for use. A better organization could undoubtedly be made, and we feel sure that the same generous and individual response to the call for help would be made by the citizens of Portsmouth.
